

“Enhancing Interprofessional
Collaboration and Learning for Strengthening Primary Health Care”

July 21-23, 2021

Faculty of Medicine, Public Health and Nursing

Universitas Gadjah Mada

Yogyakarta, Indonesia

TUFH THE NETWORK:
2021 TOWARD UNITY
FOR HEALTH

Supported by:

TUFH 2021 ABSTRACTS

Title	COMMUNITY HEALTH WATCH GROUP and COVID-18 VACCINES
Type	Workshops Innovative Ways for Community Mobilization and Engagement of Stakeholders
1st Author	LIZZY IGBINE
Co-Authors	-
Country	NIGERIA
Abstract N ^o	TUFH583
Content	COMMUNITY HEALTHWATCH GROUP-KEY ACTIVITIES. Support Immunization's for Babies from one day old to 5 Years. Ensure that pregnant Women receive adequate immunizations and Maternal Care. Work with Primary Health Centres to capture mothers and their babies. Monitor Immunization's, Report our findings, Evaluate, Review, Report and publish in Magazines. VALUE PROPOSITIONS. We have cordial relationship and mutual understanding that our work will help build lives in the rural Communities. We are also happy by the positive responses of our Volunteers and associates who bring suggestions on the way forward. These people wish that our work would move the Communities forward. COMMUNITY RELATIONSHIPS. We have cordial relationship and trust with the Communities. They value our work. We have not recorded death during child labour as we assist them get to a six-kilometer maternity home on time to delivers using their hospital charts and appointments COMMUNITY SEGMENTATION. The Communities we are working with are segmented in clusters and each community have from 250 families to 500 families. The average size of a family is seven to eight. Each couple has from three to six children and in some households, the man has more than one or two wives FINIANCE. We are currently using our incomes to sustain our activities; We hope to look for other ways of raising funds. Total incomes Received is USD 1,500. Totals Expanded USD8500, Total Budget for 4 Communities USD34,000- FUTURE FUNDINGS. We are looking at partnerships and collaborations with Partners to raise funds for scaling up of our project. In the near future we hope to raise